Melrose, Mass., has been suffering from an attack of inflammatory rheumatism and is convalescent. Miss Tibbodeau returned home, Wednesday, and intends to remain here until after Thanksgiving.
Robert W. Heath of Waterford was here Monday bringing the head of a seven point deer to be mounted. A week ago he and Will L. Clark of East Waterford were to go deer hunting in Bethel but before arriving there Heath had shot a seven point buck. The boys were to walk through the woods to Bethel and when near Spac Pond in Albany they shot this deer.
Ed. S. Cummings, the Bemis manager of O. B. Cummings & Sons' plant, was recently shot at being mistaken for deer. In company with another man they were exploring a timber lot near Ogunosod and were eating dinner when a deer hunting Boston policeman fired at them. The bullet came dangerously near and lodged in a tree. The Boston hunter didn't need a disturbed and looked upon his bad marksmanship as a joke.
There was a surprise birthday party at Philip H. McAlister's given in honor of his mother's birthday. Her children and grand children were all present also several neighbors and friends. A very enjoyable evening was spent with music and merry making. A treat was served of cake, candy and fruit. Many fine presents were received in remembrance of the occasion. Midnight came only too soon. All wished her many returns of the day and many more good times with them.
The following item is taken from The Visalia Delta, published in Visalia, Cal., "J. F. Gibson has purchased the Ed.
Downing property on South Court street in Visalia, including four full lots, making a half block running through to South Court street, at a price believed to have been $10,000, including the furniture, and Mr. Gibson intends to make Visalia his future home as in the past.
The home is one of the most beautiful in Tulare County, having already bandsome grounds, but Mr. Gibson intends to remove the house and build a beautiful concrete residence which will enhance the beauty of that part of the residential district greatly. The new residence is pleasant to the local people as he is a fine citizen, a man of sterling worth and integrity and high character.
He can be depended upon to work for the material and industrial development of the community and he is the kind of a man whose presence in the city cannot be capitalized. He is an asset to Visalia." Mr. Gibson is a brother of H. E. Gibson, grain dealer, and during the past summer spent several weeks with the same in town.

Diphtheria Cases.
The children who have been sick with diphtheria are convalescent and several are out from under the quarantine.
The case of Ruth Smith, which was under suspicion last week, was decided as that of diphtheria but she is getting along nicely.
The only new cases reported are those of Peter Kane's child and the eight months old child of E. E. Stockford, both of whom live in the lower end George Wood's house on Cottage street.
The third case in the Powers family, who have recently moved into the rent by the tannery bridge.

Banquet at Camp Comus.
Camp Comus will hold a banquet, Saturday night, Nov. 18th, at the camp.
A good sized crowd is expected to be present and a good time will surely be had. Frank Lanza will be on hand but according to what "us boys" say, he will not have anything to do with the cooking.
The camp orchestra will furnish plenty of music for the occasion, and they have added another violinist, cornetist and trap drummer to their band, so it should furnish fine music. Arthur Welch and Walter Christian will make up as black face comedians and will try and entertain the guests as much as possible.
George Wood, Jr., will give his little spiel as usual. He will talk on some sport, basket ball most likely. Clyde Fogg will try and speak "a little piece." He is making up a poem of his own. He will call it "The Sewer Pipe." He will also sing "His Father's Son," with new and classy music which he wrote himself. After that a smoke talk will be held and then it will be very much bedtime.
Clyde Fogg will also do some tall hustling as he is cock.

Unless something new "sets in" the Norway Public Library will be open next week.
A. C. Lord is very much better and has been out of the hospital since Friday and expects to come to Norway the last part of this week. Mrs. A. C. Lord is also out again and expects to return here with her husband.
Charles H. Pike, who is attending Bliss Business College, Lewiston, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Pike, over Saturday and Sunday; also Grace Prince of Mechanic Falls was their guest over Sunday.
If you defer payment beyond 12 months your paper stops. The postoffice authorities rule that we do not have the right to extend credit beyond one year. This is the reason for stopping the paper. We are aware some papers do not live up to this ruling but that is not our fault. We believe it's safer and better to live within the rules and regulations.
W. T. Edwards, one of three brothers who were in the war all of whom are now living, was in town Tuesday and brought from his home in Whitefield a hog for O. P. Brooks that weighed 415 pounds. If Mr. Edwards lives to see next St. Patrick's day he will be 63 years old and for the past 30 years he says he has done as much work as the best of them but he is coming to the conclusion he must sell one of his farms.
A. J. & F. L. Millett lost one of their fine span of dark chestnut work horses last week. Arson was returning home with him in a wagon when he noticed suddenly he jerked his head round on his side. He examined the horse but could see nothing amiss. Soon he grew worried and he had hard work to get him to the stable. After suffering a few hours in intense pain the horse died. An investigation after death showed a rupture of the large intestine. The horse appeared in his usual good health before the attack.

THE PRINTING OF PROCLAIMS THE MAN
A piece of printed matter can't talk back. It can't answer objections or offset a bad impression with smart replies. Best have it ir-reproachable. Have it prepossessing. First impressions are the ones that count. How does your printing impress you?
The business man's stationery is an advertisement, a standard by which the stability of his business is judged. The largest results are secured by the use of neat, attractive printing. Let us do yours in this manner. No job too large, none too small. Our prices are reasonable, our service is prompt, and the quality is right.
PLEASE BOTHER US
Bother us often. Bother us hard. Please do. Come in and let us talk over that job of printing you need. It costs nothing to talk business with us, and if you place an order you will get good work and good value for your money.

located at Wallace Sheen's. We were surprised when he told us that his company had over 600 industrial policies in Paris and Norway. These are policies on which payments are made on the basis of a weekly collection. Besides these some over one hundred and fifty thousand dollars are collected weekly. The worth of life insurance is carried by residents of the two villages of Norway. Mr. Connerly was greatly pleased with the head. Mike has also been spending a number of weeks in West Paris and has recently returned to Norway where he is working in the shoe shop.

taken to the Children's Hospital in Portland a few days ago, died Monday night with a trouble which was evidently incurable.
O. K. Clifford and A. C. Wheeler have disposed of the David Andrews farm in

was a well known conductor on this

his usual trip on Tuesday and went to Old Papers and Documents.

Walter L. Gray Esq. of South Paris, recently discovered some ancient literature among the effects of the late Alvah Black, esq., of Paris Hill. There was a Court Docket of the November Term of 1847, Western District of Oxford.
There is shown in it 306 continued cases.
We are unable to say who was Clerk of Courts at that time, but he was a most beautiful penman. The attorneys who appeared in the cases are all passed away.
Many of them have been prominent in the state.
In the same year it seems the state issued a report, "Resolves of the International Literature Exchange between Maine and France." This document contains some two hundred pages on matters that were interesting some sixty odd years ago.
The printed argument of Leonard Swett before the jury in Cook County, Chicago, in the case of Lydia Gilbert vs.
Chicago Evening Press, is among the interesting things.
Nash Smith was Secretary of State in 1880 and according to the laws at that time, issued a summary or statement of the Banks then doing business in the state. There were 67 of them. It gives the date of incorporation, capital, stock issued, bills circulation, profits on hand, balance due to other banks, cash deposited by individuals, cash bearing interest, total due other banks, bills on other banks, bills without the state, bills within the state, balance due from other banks, amount of all debts, total amount of resources, rate of interest and dividends declared. This is printed in tabular form and is 16x24 inches.
A copy of the Commencement Program of Waterville Classical Institute for 1873, 1874, is among the papers.
There were sixteen orations and six essays. It seems the valedictory went to the one having the highest scholarship, and there were four ladies who had equal rank to scholarship, therefore the honors had to be divided by quarters.
The prospectus of the Oxford Normal Institute of 1871 of South Paris, is another interesting document. Horatio B. Sawyer was principal, assisted by Frederick M. Wilson, A. B. with nine other teachers. Captain Horatio M.
Bolster was chief of the Military Department and we notice that the tuition for the teaching of wax work, was $2.50 per term.
The 1876 prospectus of the Norway Liberal Institute is among the collections. Charles A. Black, A. B. was principal and was assisted by a competent corps of teachers. Francis H.
Holmes was teacher of music and those who wished for information could get it by addressing S. H. Burnham of Norway. The terms were eleven weeks, tuition of common English, $5.00; higher English, $4.00; language, $5.00 and music, $10.00.
Henry E. Howe is recovering well from his operation for appendicitis.
Barbara French and Dr. Katherine French of Boston, Mass., are guests of Catherine G. Briggs.
Mrs. A. W. Garcelon of Lewiston and Mrs. Emory Parke of Pownal spent Sunday at J. P. Richardson's.
George McGinley has sold the head of the moose he recently shot to Walter D.
Hinds, the taxidermist of Portland.
Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Feldner expect to leave last of the week for Texas where they will spend the winter as usual.
Charles Allen Young and George A.
Doran of the hunting party who went to Mason, have returned with four deer.
There will be a rehearsal of the initiatory degree at the meeting of Mt. Mica Lodge I. O. O. F., Thursday evening, Nov. 16th.
E. M. Thayer is employed at the Mountain View farm to care for the horses. Mr. Thayer is the successor to W. A. Nelson.
A surprise party was given Mrs. P. S.
Mason by twenty-two of her neighbors.
Thursday evening, it being in celebration of her birthday.
Mrs. Maria Glover has returned to her home in South Paris after spending a pleasant time with relatives and friends in Sumner and Hartford.
Henry Howe intends to go to Waltham, Mass., last of the week where he will visit to relatives. After thanksgiving when he will return to school at Worcester, Mass.
Mrs. Wirt Stanley entertained the Seneca Club Monday evening at her home on Pleasant St. A game supper was served at 8 o'clock, the same the club has enjoyed many times before.
Mrs. C. W. Bowker, who has been at Dr. King's Hospital for treatment, returned home Saturday, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. J. F. Stanley of Auburn, who will spend several days with her.

will serve supper Thursday evening, Nov. 16th, at 6.45. Supper will consist of scalloped oysters, scalloped corn,

Chas. B. Pratt died very suddenly in Portland, last Wednesday. Mr. Pratt
was a well known conductor on this division of the Grand Trunk. He made his usual trip on Tuesday and went to take his train on Wednesday, but was attacked with a severe illness and lived only a few hours.

Several from here attended the
"Masquerade" at Barlow's, Friday evening.
Miss H. M. Cole is making good recovery from her illness, although strict quarantine is still maintained.
Seward P. Stearns, who met with so severe an accident last week, is slowly gaining and as comfortable as a man with a broken leg can be. His friends here gave him a surprise in the form of a substantial purse.
Miss Baker, at account of whose death may be seen on page 6th, was a native of Oxford, went there last week to attend the county conference and planned to make several visits among her old friends on Friday night she suffered a hemorrhage of the stomach and on Monday a paralytic shock from which she failed to rally. She was the last of a large family. She made friends wherever she was and they all will miss her. She was a member of Oxford Congregational Church. The funeral was Monday at Oxford.

Music by Lumley Castle.
David McLucas of Hiram, who has been working on the dam had an attack of typhoid pneumonia and after a week's illness died Nov. 8th. He was boarding at Mr. Kimball's on the Story Brook road a short distance from the village.
A prayer service was held here by Rev.
A. F. McWhorter and the remains taken to Hiram for burial. He was 42 years of age.
Miss F. N. Andrews, who recently sold her house on Paris Hill, has presented her collection of minerals which is a valuable one to the high school and it has recently been delivered. Combined with a collection which the school already had this makes an equipment in this line which Principal Mearns of the school says is excellent in this state only by the larger institutions of learning.
The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Deering Memorial Church will hold Tuesday afternoon with Mrs.
S. C. Ordway. The subject was from the new text book "The Light of the World" and the subject of the afternoon was "Hinduism." Papers and extracts were read by the different members with a short sermon by Mrs. Eben Chapman and Mrs. T. N. Kewley were chosen delegates to attend the district meeting at Auburn, Thursday, Nov. 16th.
The chicken pie supper at the Congregational church, Thursday evening, was attended by about 225 people. The entertainment given after the supper included piano solos by Lafayette Dow, vocal solos by Jessie Tolman and Ruby Clark, and readings by Nettie Newell, Rose Murphy and Miss Rand.

The Epworth League of the Deering Memorial Church held a five cent social at the vestry, Tuesday evening, which was in charge of Helen Chapman and Merl Monk. There was a good number present and the evening was pleasantly passed in games and an "old fashioned" spelling match. The leaders or captains were Sarah Swett and Florence Richardson. The last two to remain in the spelling match were Mrs. T. M. Davis and Rev. T. N. Kewley, and when it seemed well nigh impossible for either to misspell a word, Mr. Kewley's chimpanzee was minus one "a" and Mrs.
Davis carried the day. Refreshments of popcorn and apples were served.

Several from here attended the
"Masquerade" at Barlow's, Friday evening.
Miss H. M. Cole is making good recovery from her illness, although strict
quarantine is still maintained.

A Corroboration

Of Interest to Norway Readers.

For months Norway citizens have seen in these columns enthusiastic praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by Norway residents. Would these prominent people recommend a remedy that had not proven reliable? Would they confirm their statements after years had elapsed if personal experience had not shown the remedy to be worthy of endorsement? No stronger proof of merit can be had than cures that have stood the test of time. The following statement should carry conviction to the mind of every Norway reader.

William O. Needham, Main St., Norway, Me., says: "Several years ago I contracted a cold which settled on my kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills proved to be the remedy I required, strengthening my kidneys and making me feel better in every way. I advise anyone afflicted with kidney complaint to procure Doan's Kidney Pills at Stone's Drug Store and give them a trial." 46-47

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cts. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and no other.

Indian Summer.

Sweet Indian Summer! Like a bride-to-be, Who in the mirror gives one parting glance Ere yielding up her freedom and her youth; Still lingers loath to leave her golden prime, So you loth to leave your golden prime, Reflect those days in the glass of time. And tinge along with a sad sweet air, With a smile on your face like departing day, Ere it shuts down in darkness and gloom of night.

You live or those days are they glide away, And so like some moving picture grand, Reproduce your bright scenes on every hand. JENNIE E. SNOW KIMBALL.

Prizes for Inventions.

Substantial Rewards for Those Who Have Made Important Discoveries.

The inventors of guns and those who have exercised their talents in improving destructive war materials have often been richly rewarded in this and other countries. But, if anyone in our own country has received a reward for the invention or perfection of apparatus for lessening the sufferings of sick and wounded in war, no one has ever heard of it. Naturally, therefore, progress in this direction has not been as notable as it might have been. To their honor, be it said, that this condition of affairs has never operated to deter the medical officers of our army and navy from doing without hope of material reward all that in their power to improve existing apparatus and to invent new appliances. Conditions in other countries have been similar to ours.

Some years ago, in order to better conditions in this respect, the Dowager-Empress of Russia, Marie Feodorovna, established a prize fund consisting of 100,000 roubles (approximately $50,000). This is for the purpose of encouraging inventions having for their purpose the amelioration of the sufferings of sick and wounded in war. Every five years, on the occasion of the quinquennial International Red Cross conference, the interest on the fund, amounting to about 20,000 roubles, or $10,000.00 is disbursed in prizes.

The first awards were made in London in 1907. No Americans competed, nor was the establishment given much publicity in this country. Next year, in May, the International Red Cross Conference will be held in Washington, D. C., when the following prizes will be offered:

One 1st prize of 6,000 roubles (approximately, $3,000). Two 2nd prizes of 3,000 roubles each (approximately, $1,500). Six 3rd prizes of 1,000 roubles each (approximately, $500).

The subjects of the competition will be:

1. Organization of the methods of evacuation of the wounded on the battlefield, comprising as complete an economy as possible in litter bearers.

2. Portable (surgeons') washstands for use at aid stations and in the ambulance.

3. Wheeled stretchers.

4. Easily portable folding stretcher.

5. Transport of the wounded by means of war vessels, hospital ships and the shore.

6. The best method of heating railroad cars by a system independent of steam from the locomotive.

7. The best model of a portable X-ray apparatus permitting utilization of X-rays on the battlefield and at first aid stations.

No particular prize is allotted to a special subject; but the best exhibition, as decided by judges, irrespective of the subject, will be awarded the maximum prize, and so on. Though this is a new field of endeavor for most American inventors the substantial monetary rewards should result in many exhibits being entered by them. They have not fallen behind the inventors of other countries in fashioning the destructive agents of warfare, and now that opportunity is given them to compete with other countries in minimizing the horrors of war, it is certain they will not be found wanting.

SAVED MANY FROM DEATH.

W. L. Mock, of Mock, Ark., believes he has saved many lives in his 25 years of experience in the drug business.

"What I always like to do," he writes, "is to recommend Dr. King's New Discovery for weak, sore lungs, hard colds, hoarseness, chronic coughs, la grippe, croup, asthma or other bronchial affections, for I feel sure that a number of my neighbors are alive and well to-day because they took my advice to use it. I honestly believe it's the best throat and lung medicine that's made." Easy to prove he's right. Get a trial bottle free, or regular 50c or $1.00 bottle. Guaranteed by The Noyes Drug Store. 44-47

Free If It Fails.

Your Money Back If You are not Satisfied with the Medicine We Recommend.

We are so positive that our remedy will permanently relieve constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish the medicine at our expense should it fail to produce satisfactory results.

It is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Laxatives or cathartics do much harm. They cause a reaction, irritate, and weaken the bowels and tend to make constipation more chronic. Besides, their use becomes a habit that is dangerous.

Constipation is caused by a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestine or decaying colon. To expect permanent relief you must therefore tone up and strengthen these organs and restore them to healthier activity.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies on our recommendation. They are exceedingly pleasant to take, being eaten like candy, and are ideal for children, delicate persons, and old folks, as well as for the robust. They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They apparently have a neutral action or other associate organs, or glands. They do not purge, cause excessive looseness, nor create any inconvenience whatever. They may be taken at any time, day or night. They will positively relieve chronic or habitual constipation, if not of surgical variety, and the myriad of associate or dependent chronic ailments, if taken with regularity for a reasonable length of time. 12 tablets, 10 cents; 36 tablets, 25 cents; 80 tablets, 50 cents. Sold in Norway only at our store—The Rexall Store, F. P. Stone, 148 Main St., Norway, Me.

How to Make Yeast Cakes.

Put one good yeast cake to soak in lukewarm water. Scald one quart of fresh buttermilk, not letting it boil. Strain about 1 1/2 parts of corn meal, add a teaspoon of salt. Pour the mixture over the meal, stir till cool. When just milk-warm stir in the yeast cake, dissolved, and mix thoroughly. Set away in a warm place to rise. Allow the mixture to become very light and stir it down three times. When it has risen add more meal with just enough to make stick together. Form into small cakes and dry gradually. When wanted for use, crumble up and dissolve in hot water. These will keep better than potato yeast and you're sure to have excellent bread.

*Tentative System of Trunk Line Roads for
MAINE
BY
OF
WESTBROOK*

PRIMARY LINES To Be Constructed First—499 MILES SECONDARY LINES To Be Constructed Later—373 MILES

(John Clark Scates.)

On everyone who travels extensively over the highways of Maine and seriously considers the road problem, is forced the conclusion that the State must materially change its road policy.
A trunk line system must be adopted which will permit of the construction of continuous roads under trained supervision. Until this policy is adopted Maine will make no appreciable improvements on her roads. A vast amount is annually expended by the State and municipalities but it is so scattered in small amounts over so large an area with little or no regard to a connecting system and the work as a whole is so indifferently done that the net results are hardly appreciable.
Almost at the inception of the movement for the better roads in New Hampshire, the legislature wisely authorized the governor and council to lay out three trunk lines, commencing at the Massachusetts boundary, and running north and south the whole length of the State. The total length of which including roads which the state wholly maintains and the streets through the cities and larger towns is 557 miles. At the beginning of 1910 one line was 88 per cent. completed, another 67 per cent. and the other 42 per cent.
During the past four years New Hampshire, as a state has expended approximately $1,000,000 for roads. At present trunk lines. Our Legislature during this same four years, has appropriated over $910,000 for roads and bridges and what is there to show for it?

If, during that time there had been constructed a good macadam and gravel State road from Kittery to Bangor it would have been a great benefit to the State, as well as a source of pride to its people. Our later state during these past four years has been constructing not only one, but three trunk lines.
The average length of each is nearly the same as the distance from Kittery to Bangor.
The trunk lines have had this result in New Hampshire. When the towns through which the trunk lines run saw that the state really meant business, it stimulated them to make large appropriations to aid the work. To these trunk lines more than anything else is due the wonderful progress the Granite State has made in the past four years on a comparatively small amount of money furnished by the state, only a little in excess of that appropriated by our own State during the same period.
I have laid out a tentative system of trunk lines and also the approximate area of wild lands as well as the population of the State. Presently the remark is made that Maine is a much larger state than New Hampshire but, if the wild lands as well as the large unpopulated territory that practically has no roads were deducted as it should be, the disparity should not be so apparent.
In laying out this system two objects have been constantly in view. First and foremost to arrange them so that our citizens would receive a maximum profit at a minimum mileage. Second, the development of the summer business of the State. While the tourist, hunting and fishing business possesses untold possibilities and if properly encouraged will bring many millions into the State, and possibly be one of our greatest sources of wealth, still our agricultural and industrial interests are of first importance and must be considered. Most of the population as well as the trend of travel is lengthwise of the State, consequently the trunk lines must follow the same general direction. This not only serves our business interests, but happily in most instances accommodates the tourists and sportsmen. Adopting the general nomenclature the words "primary" and "secondary" have been used applying to lines of first and second importance, although in many instances it is a distinction without a difference. It is not to be presumed that the location of these trunk lines are considered anywhere near perfect or could not be greatly improved. Although in the western section it hardly seems possible to change them materially. In the eastern, northern and possibly some of the central sections, no doubt they might be materially improved without increasing the mileage.

The Primary Roads, 1.—Kittery to Old Town.
Primary Line 2.—Portland, Lewiston, Rangely.
Primary Line 3.—To Bath and the Coast Towns.

Primary Line 4.—White Mountains to Portland and Poland Spring.
Primary Line 5.—Houlton to Caribou and Ft. Fairfield.
Secondary Line 1.—Waterville to Skowhegan, Bangor and Quebec.
Secondary Line 2.—Newport to Moosehead.
Secondary Line 3.—Camden to Bangor.
Secondary Line 4.—Old Town to Houlton.
Secondary Line 5.—Gilead to Lewiston.
This line would start at Gilead through West Bethel, Bethel, Locke's Mills, Norway, Oxford, Mechanic Falls to Auburn —55 miles. It would come within about a mile of South Paris and within a few miles of Poland Spring. As a gateway this route is second in importance only to those of Kittery and Fryeburg.
While the total length of the primary lines is 499 miles and the secondary 373, there should be deducted 10 to 15 per cent. owing to the distance through the cities and large towns and the small pieces of road that are already built.
Such a system of improved highways as above indicated would, like the rivers which in many instances they follow, serve the industrial and agricultural interests of the State, and at times wonderfully stimulate the every increasing summer tourist business. Short cross lines connecting one system with another could be constructed as occasion required.

A Cow to the Acre.

No western farmer on good land capable of growing sixty to eighty bushels of corn to the acre, according to the season should be satisfied if when it is in pasture it does not keep a cow to the acre from the first of May to the first of November. We are quite well aware that few acres do this. On many farms it requires three acres to keep a cow, on average farms even in the corn belt two acres and only once in a while do we find pasture good enough to keep a cow on the acre in first-class condition during the grazing season. We have done it some years, but most years we have failed.
We are not satisfied, however, unless our pastures keep a cow to the acre during the summer season.
To do this the land must be kept rich; it must be well seeded. We do not know that there is any one kind of grass that will do it alone, except possibly, an old blue grass pasture, and that is only when the land is rich, when it has not been overgrazed and when it has a good deal of white clover with it.
Next to keeping the land rich the main point is to get enough grass seed in it to fill up every available space, and such a variety of grasses as will furnish fresh bloom over as much of the year as possible. If the land has been in grass some years, so that some of the varieties of grass have weakened, it must be re-seeded in order to keep down weeds, ironweed, foxtail and other weeds that will fight for a place wherever there is a vacancy. The point is to have no vacancy. There are many pasture lands that have been in pasture two or three years that require two acres to a cow that can be made to keep one to the acre if farmers wake up and give it the proper cultivation.

You ask how to begin? In case you are seeding down, in the hope of having a pasture two or three years from now that will keep a cow to an acre, be sure you put on enough seed and have sufficient variety, and as little nurse crop as possible. In the humid sections a nurse crop is advisable; not that a nurse crop does any good, but because unless you grow some kind of a nurse crop you will have a nurse crop of weeds, and a nurse crop is simply a necessary choice of the lesser of two evils.
If you have a field that has required two acres to keep a cow during the last season, then there is something wrong with it. It either has not sufficient fertility or it has not a sufficient stand of grass; one or the other. If it has not sufficient fertility, then proceed at once to manure it, using a manure spreader and putting on from eight to ten loads of well decomposed manure to the acre as a surface dressing.
If the manure has been made from hay that has more or less grass seed in it, so much the better. If you can not conveniently put this manure on this winter, then defer it to the early spring, and before doing so supply yourself with a disk drill. Then as soon as the frost is out of the ground, put in a mixture of red clover, mammoth clover, and alsike clover, using four pounds each of the first and second and a pound of the last, to the acre. Our land in the corn belt is settled, but do it as the frost is coming out, when it can be done easily. Then follow with your manure. Get it all done before the land becomes dry or baked.

While you may not be able to carry a cow to the acre on this land the first year, you will carry more than you ever did before, and probably in the second year, or at any rate in the third, you will reach your ideal of a cow to the acre. Our land in the corn belt is becoming too high priced to allow an acre to foot along by keeping less than a cow. By a cow we mean one thousand pounds of animal, whether cow, steer, hog or horse. Make this your ideal, the point to which you intend to work, and if you will follow our directions you will realize it. In all your seeding down put in plenty of grass seed.—Turk, Farm and Home.

BETHEL.

Gilman P. Bean, died Tuesday night, aged nearly 80 years.

He was born at Bethel, Dec. 23, 1825, son of Elihu and Abigail Bean. His father and grandfather were among the pioneer settlers of Bethel. Mr. Bean received his education in the public schools and in the academy, remaining at home until he was 21 years of age when he spent several years in Massachusetts.

He married Amanda Whitman in 1851 and they had two sons who died young. In February, 1875, he married Abbie G. Cross, who survives him and succeeded to the business of her father, Moses T. Cross.

Mr. Bean has been prominent in town affairs, being for many years chairman of the board of selectmen, postmaster, and at the time of his death he was a trustee of the Bethel savings bank and doublets academy. He was a man of sterling integrity, his name being as good as his bond, as his friends often said. He was one of the old time gentlemen, social in nature and much beloved by his fellow townsmen.

The Garland house in Mayville, now owned by Ruel Small of Portland and being wired for electric lights, and the line for lighting will be extended as far as Jacob Thurston's about one and one-quarter miles from the village.

While J. S. Hutchins, R. F. The horse ran to the old house at South Bethel. This alarmed the neighbors who went in search of him and found the driver beside the road and later he was removed to his home in the village. The mail was closely packed so it was not lost but stamps and changed were scattered all along the road and have not been recovered. Mr. Hutchins was not seriously injured but is bruised and lame.

The Blessing of the Post Card.
A lovely card from Mrs. Wilma (Brooks) Howard says they have returned from out West and settled in Chesterville, Maine, on a poultry farm. Years ago we knew her relatives in Upton, the best of people, and now the mantle has fallen on her truest. Our State of Maine is a good State after all.

Pensions.

The first pensions were granted to distinguished individuals for great services rendered the state, as to the duties of Gratton, Richmond, Marlborough and others, in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. So early as 1781 England had a fixed pension list of many names and involving an expenditure of over £100,000. In ancient times the idea of providing for those who had suffered for the state or who had contributed to its welfare was practically unknown, it being then an accepted doctrine that the individual belonged to the state, served her by right and had no claim against her for the simple thing of doing of his manifold duty.—New York American.

Men With Memories.

Seneca the Wise could repeat 2,000 words in the uninterrupted succession in which they were read to him. The greatest Roman orator before Cicero, Hortensius, could recite all the prices given at a public auction. Themistocles, who considered it a greater art to forget than to remember, learned the Persian language inside of a year.

Do you know the post office address of any in the list of names advertised for by the Clinton Market, Boston? See ad. and if you can give T. H. Wheeler & Co., 30 Clinton street, Boston the post office address of any one or more of these you will confer a great favor on both parties.

You are invited to call at Wales & Hamilton Co., Bridgton. See and read their ad.

Around the World.

The experience of 18 months Around the World were interestingly described by Leslie Shaw, a young man, at the residence of Mrs. Barker and Miss Pike in Fryburg.

"A burial at sea, and the stopping of the steamer for the service, in the midst of the lonely Indian ocean, was the most intensely solemn experience I ever had," said Shaw. "The walking on live coals, a religious rite practiced by priests and peasants in some parts of Japan, I was fortunate enough to see in a little village, a few miles from Yokohama. The distance walked was some 30 feet. We saw the fagots brought and the fire kindled. When it was a bed of glowing coals the priests and people walked barefooted across, without injury. Our small group was invited to walk over, but we declined with thanks. A few handfuls of something like salt were scattered about as they went. It is claimed the power of burning is removed from the coal during the ceremony."

"The Jaccari trick, the growing of the Mango tree, I saw performed on the golf course to us. It is usually given on the stage, and has, I think, never been explained. A box of sand was set before us. We handled and examined it. The conjurer was without clothes except for a scarf around the loins. He had a snake, a very dirty rag and some seeds. We closed one of the seeds. He cut the others in two to show they were just seeds. He planted a seed, spread the rag over the box, and fiddled the snake. When the box was uncovered a small hotel syndicate and it will become a part of the hotel property."

BRYANT POND.

Saved from Drowning.

Charles Jacobs came near being drowned Monday afternoon, by the capsizing of a canoe. There was a heavy rain and Jacobs' row boat, which was fastened at the north shore of the pond, got adrift and Mr. Jacobs started after it in a small canoe.

In making a turn against the waves it capsized but he was able to get hold of it and though a heavy man he bore him up and he was left drifting in the middle of the pond.

Floyd Morgan happened to be working on the west shore, and taking in the situation started out to Jacobs' rescue in an old boat with only a piece of board to paddle with; once his boat half filled with water and he had to go ashore. Finally, after considerable effort he paddled the old craft round so that Jacobs could get hold of it and then towed him ashore. It was a very lucky rescue. Mr. Morgan being no swimmer and tossed about in an old boat with nothing to guide it with except an old piece of board.

An Innovation in Oil Heaters

The Perfection Smokeless Oil Heater, with its drums enameled in turquoise, is an ornament to any room, whether in the country or city home.

No home is quite complete without a Perfection Oil Heater. It is a necessity in the fall and spring, when it is too warm to start the regular heating apparatus, and too cool to be without heat. In the midst of winter it is often convenient as an auxiliary heater, as there are always some cold corners in a house.

The enameled heater always presents a nice appearance, as the enamel will not tarnish or burn off. It is not an "enameled paint," but it is the same as the enamel of your cooking utensils.

The Perfection is the most reliable and convenient portable heating device you can find. An automatically-locking flame spreader prevents turning the wick high enough to smoke.

There are many Incidental Benefits in having a Checking Account in

THIS STRONG NATIONAL BANK

It enables you to keep track of your money matters in a systematic way. The entries in your bank book show how much money you have received, and the stubs of your check book and also the cancelled checks returned by the Bank show how much you have paid out and where the money went. In this way this Bank virtually keeps your books for you, and, we may add, few individuals ever succeed in keeping accurate account of their finances in any other way.

The cancelled checks, returned by the Bank each month, are legal receipts for your payments. If you pay in cash you will often fail to get receipts but paying by check automatically gives you an indisputable receipt for every payment and in a form very easy to file for future reference. You also avoid asking for a receipt, which is sometimes, though wrongfully, looked upon as evidence of personal suspicion.

In view of all these advantages can you ignore the need of a bank account for yourself?

The Farm of Tomorrow.

Students of the times think they can foresee a reaction from the complicated life we are all leading. The farm is looming up more attractive, not alone because farm life is being lightened by the telephone, the trolley car, the automobile, and the like; it is beginning to seem a necessary haven from the taxing cares, the wearying excitements of urban life. But above all, the farm begins to look better and better as a business proposition; and after all, that is the final and deciding consideration for most of humanity. It is not a piece of windy optimism, but plain, sensible reasoning from obvious facts, to assert that we are on the eve of faring revival a revival certain to profit our people in body and in spirit.

Let us have a look at the farm that science and opportunity have already made possible. To reverse the usual red acres may be bought with a thousand or two dollars borrowed from the co-operative bank. It is not to pay for itself in a year. Pay for itself it will, but only after some years of earnest and thoughtful working. One of the things the enterprising owner will buy is a motor car, not as a luxury, but because it will be profitable; will pay handsomely. It will save the farmer's time, in taking him quickly to and from market. It will save him the most favorable moment to sell his produce, and he will lose no valuable time in the overhauling of his crops. Every morning that car will carry a light load of eggs, berries, vegetables and the like, to the nearest town. The farmer will thus prove the farmer's chances of seizing the market at its most favorable moment.

A farm is not made in a day, and most new farms will have to be improved out of improving old-fashioned ones. But in time the new farm will pay for itself besides, and from then on is a clear gain. For the farming of tomorrow is to be a scientific business, no longer a happy-go-lucky dependence upon nature. The farmer—himself the well educated son of a farmer—will have had courses in chemistry, in bacteriology, in soil structure, at a progressive school. He will understand the fertilization of his particular soil, the use of artificial manures, the necessary inoculation of his land. His aim will be the largest yield from the smallest acreage; high fertilization and intense cultivation must be his motto, and he must have business sense to keep track of the wide markets outside.

He will raise no one crop, but every foot of soil he has will be made to produce something. The very fences dividing his fields will serve to support very fine vines of the improved kind brought out. His stock will be the best. By systematic bookkeeping, by tracing up his costs of production, as a manufacturer would do, he can weed out of his herd the non-paying breeds and replace them with better. He will tolerate nothing on his property that does not pay. The daily record of his cows will quickly tell him which to send to the butcher. Business methods will everywhere on the new farm, and the honest work from his labors because, besides providing them with sensible amusements, he will enlist their enterprise by small dividends from the earnings of the farm. Their cottages, erected on the place, will have a bath, an airy kitchen, perhaps acetylene or electric lights. They will feel as "morden" as if they lived in town. Their work in the barns will be well lighted, with electricity supplied by a gasoline motor. The dirty drudgery of cutting feed will be done by the same agency. There will be nothing exhausting or repugnant to the work.

The stock will share in this comfort. Concrete floors in the pig-sty, with running water nearby, will keep it clean. The cow-yard will be no less wholesome. Meat and dairy products from such a plant will command the best prices; and yet, because there may be many such farms, the prices will not be exorbitant. It is possible to paint the picture in still more detail, but this much is sufficient. This is no utopian dream, it is the ready possibility of tomorrow, and more than a probability. System and science we have everywhere else. Their application to the farm is rapidly approaching. Life for the farmer and life for the rest of us will be a good deal better when it comes. And a good many of us will still have all our hair and nostrils when the day of the new farm arrives.

It was just after the apple episode in Eden. How fortunate it occurred at this season of the year, remarked Eve, when the leaves are of such stunning shades. Thereupon she picked herself a new gown.

Cause For Alarm.

Loss of Appetite or Distress After Eating a Symptom That Should not be Disregarded.

Appetite is just a natural desire for food. Loss of appetite or stomach distress after eating indicates indigestion or dyspepsia. Over-eating is a habit very dangerous to a person's good general health. It is not what you eat but what you digest and assimilate that does you good. Some of the strongest, healthiest, and healthiest persons are moderate eaters.

There is nothing that will cause more trouble than a disordered stomach, and many people, daily contract serious maladies simply through disregard or abuse of the stomach. We urge all in Norway who suffer from any stomach derangement, indigestion, loss of appetite or stomach distress, to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, with the distinct understanding that we will refund their money without question or formality, if after reasonable use of this medicine, they are not perfectly satisfied with the results. We recommend them to our customers every day, and have yet to hear of any one who has not been benefited by them. We honestly believe them to be without equal. They give very prompt relief, aiding to neutralize the gastric juices, strengthen the digestive organs, to regulate the bowels, and thus to promote perfect nutrition, and eradicate all unhealthy symptoms.

We all try a 25c. box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, which gives 15 days' treatment. At the end of that time, your money will be returned to you if you are not satisfied. Of course, in chronic cases length of treatment is necessary. For such cases, we have two larger sizes, which sell for 50c. and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store, F. F. Stone, 143 Main St., Norway, Me.

DOCTORS FAILED. RESTORED BY PERUNA.

Catarrh of the Lungs

Threatened Her Life.

Miss Ninette Porter, Braintree, Vermont, writes: "I have been cured by Peruna."

"I had several hemorrhages of the lungs. The doctors did not help me much and would never have cured me."

"I saw a testimonial in a Peruna almanac of a case similar to mine, and I commenced using it."

"I was not able to wait on myself when I began using it. I gained very slowly at first, but I could see that it was helping me."

"After I had taken it a while I commenced to raise up a stringy, sticky substance from my lungs. This grew less and less in quantity as I continued the treatment."

"I grew more fleshy than I had been for a long time, and now I call myself well."

Sleeping Outdoors.

One of the fads of modern life which deserves a permanent place in the activities of humanity is the determination of civilized man to go back to the habits of his ancestors in sleeping out of doors. In every suburban neighborhood sleeping porches are frequent and more than one disease meets its worst enemy in this new idea. The Boy Scout movement at teaching the habit to the rising generation and, in spite of the fears of anxious and over-nervous mothers, the public is growing to appreciate the truth of Ernest Thompson-Seton's statement that no one ever caught cold from sleeping out of doors in the open if he was properly prepared for it.

No matter how many windows are placed in the walls of a room and how wide they are opened at night, unless the wind is strong certain amount of stagnant air is unavoidable. The air is full of impurities. The man, woman or child who breathes it does not gain the right quantity of oxygen and suffers accordingly. But the sleeping porch or the open tent supplies the absolute purity which means so much to humanity.

If the fathers and mothers of today would, wherever possible, provide outdoor sleeping places and let the youngsters sleep in them the next generation would be freer from anemias and neurasthenia than is the present one. If every second story porch were equipped with coats and curtains to protect from the elements, for the use of these spots for sleeping purposes would make insomnia unable to shorten as many lives as it does today. Good air is one of God's medicines, and the man or woman who turns to a doctor when this natural remedy is at hand hardly deserves to get well.

Several elements enter into the struggle for rugged constitutions. Ancestry, good habits, good sleep, good food and a quiet mind are the most essential of these. If the bedroom is in the pocket of dead air, were avoided by citizens, young and old, at least one of the handicaps to perfect physical condition would be overcome.

STARK'S MUCH TROUBLE.

If all people knew that neglect of constipation would result in severe indigestion, yellow jaundice or virulent liver trouble they would soon take Dr. King's New Life Pill, and end it. It's the only safe way. Best for biliousness, head ache, dyspepsia, chills and debility 25c at The Noyes Drug Store. 44-47

BETHEL.

Cows Killed by Train.

C. G. Blake a farmer, started to drive his herd of cattle out to water. The herd consisted of seventeen head. One ran up on the railroad track. Mr. Blake went after the one, whereupon the rest followed him and confusion reigned. Hearing the 10.30 train, Mr. Blake ran down the track and signaled for them to stop. However, the engineer gave no heed to his warning and continued at the usual speed, hitting five cows, carrying one some distance and throwing while two others have broken ribs and Mr. Blake hopes they may recover. One of the cows that were killed belonged to James Hutchins, rural mail carrier. The roadmaster, and several section hands were aboard the train and they said that it was impossible to stop at that point without derailing the train and causing a serious accident.

The Shirtwaist Question.

No matter what other costumes the business woman resorts to for relief from monotony, she always comes back to the shirtwaist sooner or later as the best solution of the dress problem. After all, there is nothing so neat, so attractive and so appropriate for office wear as the shirtwaist of linen or other tub material which may be renewed in freshness after each wearing if necessary. Never in the history of the dress was more popular with well dressed women than they are at this moment and the smart, well cut waist with a turnover collar and four in-hand tie is as appropriate on Fifth Avenue as in a business office far down Broadway, and much smarter than a sheer lawn blouse honeycombed with lace.

But there are shirtwaists and shirtwaists, and the tailored waist more than any other kind needs to be well cut and well finished to be correct. One waist is made of striped shirting and is perfectly plain in style, with manish cuffs and a starched box pleat at the front buttoned white pearl buttons. There are lovely patterns in wash silks for these tailored waists—soft, doll French blues striped with shaded lavenders, faint pinks with blue striping and white with delicate gray-blues or rose. These tub silks do seem to cost a rather substantial amount by the yard, but they are very wide and they launder beautifully, with no need of starch, so that with a small flatiron and gas stove a waist of this sort may be done up in an evening by a dainty business girl. Such a waist is worn with a high turn-over collar of the silk pinned neatly under a four-in-hand tie, a stiff linen collar, either high or in the open Byron style, or an Ascot stock of plain colored madras.

A darker blouse is preferred, mesaline silk pin tucked and trimmed with the narrow corded puffings makes a dainty model. Crepe de chine in the color of the skirt may be used, or one of the pretty plaided taffeta silks in a bly pattern in checked pattern with pippings of plain green and tiny gold or steel buttons. Satin, velvet, lace and chiffon blouses should be eschewed by the business girl, who even on Saturday should no more think of wearing an elaborate gown than when her employer of donning his frock coat, pearl gray tie and gloves because later in the afternoon he expected to attend a wedding.
